*Data is for cases that were tested and returned positive. At-home test results are NOT included.

Using the population size in the calculation helps us more easily compare larger and smaller counties. A larger county would be expected to have more cases because of the larger population, but expressing the rate per 100,000 residents allows for a more equal analysis. The CDC defines a 7-day case rate of 100 or higher as high transmission.

This chart shows the change in weekly positivity over a five week time period.
